“ Most people don’t know where they stand “

How much security is enough ?
How much do you need ?
Does your security program address your real threats,
risks and vulnerabilities ?
Does it fit your unique culture, values, budgets ?
Are you spending more on security than is necessary ?

Van Looy Group’s security assessment will:

- determine if your security program addresses your real risks and threats
- establish a baseline and prioritized perspective on where you stand and plan for where you should be
- elicit involvement, understanding and support of other departments and staff, mitigate security-related liabilities
- reduce security-related expenditures, while maintaining, or even increasing levels of protection
- assure that every Euro you spend on security, serves your objectives and needs

Van Looy Group provides a wide range of professional services related to design and engineering of industrial buildings. This includes expertise in conducting security assessments, audits, identifying risks, and implementing cost-effective measures, protecting assets and people.

Our security services portfolio include:

- security assessments / audits
- conceptual design with investment estimate
- bid document for tendering
- project management during execution

As a TAPA member, we follow TAPA guidelines and national/international regulations for assessments and audits of logistics centers such as distribution centers and warehouses.
